We work in various media and utilize a large variety of social media platforms to identify and capture new groups in North America. The updates and population of media sites are partly automatic and created to strengthen the image of the newspaper and drive interest to our partners. The best way to capture a large audience is really through a combination of online with print.

Our digital weekly newsletter, Sweden Today, along with the digital and mobile issues of the newspaper available through the App Store and Google Play, offer seamless links to other media and advertisers' websites or rich media.
